

ABSTRACT

A print ordering sheet for group members, which is used via a shop when the group member places an order of print from a photographed image stored in an information recording medium shared by the group members, including:

- a displaying section for displaying a visual list including total printed images produced from the photographed images;

- a print order assigning section for each printed image on the list;

- a control information displaying section for displaying control information relevant to a group;

- an identification writing section for writing identification information of the group member; and

- an address displaying section for displaying a contact address of the shop.